CAL'S RADIO TO NATION: VOTE!

JONES VS. SMALL UP TO VOTERS;
WAR AT CLIMAX

Republicans Line Up to Retire Len.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

"Jones will win." That was the final word yesterday from Democratic leaders and volunteer Republicans who erased party lines and joined the campaign to make Norman L. Jones governor of Illinois. But the Small forces were sitting tight, confident that the governor will be carried to victory by the big regular Republicans vote.

Jones will carry Cook county by a substantial majority over Gov. Len Small, George E. Brennan, Democratic chairman, and County Chairman Martin J. O'Brien predicted last night.

Relay on Changed Sentiment.

John P. Devine, manager of the Jones campaign, said the final reports from downstate indicate a strong trend toward Jones in this territory, and Jones leaders predicting a complete turnover of normal Republican majorities in whole congressional districts as the result of aroused sentiment during the last week of the campaign.

An example of these predictions is given here:

Gov. Small four years ago carried the Nineteenth (Champaign-Decatur) district, home of United States Senator McCall, and a strong Republican district, by 15,000. District leaders of the Jones side said yesterday the Jones will carry five of those counties, and that the majorities will be even larger. Cook, 1,000,000; DuPage, 100,000; McLean, 40,000; DeKalb, 100,000, a total majority of 1,200,000. The remaining counties, were given to Small by a total of 4,500, leaving the Jones majority for the district: 500 or better.

Small's failure to say a word about his connections with the Ku Klux Klan in the face of numerous exposures is believed to have cost him many votes among people opposed to the Klan on principle rather than on racial or religious prejudices.

None Adds Republicans Small.

The turmoil in the La Follette camp over the repudiation of Small by Hiram Vrooman, La Follette elector, member of the campaign committee and head of the Farmers Protective council, said to number 500,000, boiled over yesterday. Two women leaders in the La Follette fold came out with denunciations as strong as Vrooman.

The statement came from Miss Jane Adams, internationally known social worker, and Mrs. Ethel Dummar, chairman of the La Follette women's committee. Miss Adams, like Vrooman, is a La Follette elector and member of the campaign committee. Their statement was made as another repudiation of the action of Charles J. MacCowan, manager of the La Follette state campaign, who called on La Follette voters to support Gov. Small.

Balk on Voting for Small.

"We, the undersigned," the statement said, "have been working wholeheartedly for the election of Senator La Follette with the understanding that the presidential campaign was quite detached from the state and local candidates, concerning whom we reserve the right of undivided judgment. We deeply deplore the influence from the state headquarters last Saturday of a simple ballot linking the voters for La Follette and Wheeler with a vote for Gov. Small."

No part of the women's division knew of the master and they, with thousands of La Follette workers throughout the state of Illinois, repudiate this recommendation of Gov. Small which so grossly misrepresents the political ideals of the mass of La Follette adherents."

The statement was signed by Miss Adams and Mrs. Dummar in their official capacities.

Recall Small vs. Deneen.

Campaign speakers, including Jones, pointed out how Small had knifed the Republican ticket in times past, particularly against Deneen in 1908, as shown by election figures from Small's home town, Kankakee, and even in his own precinct.

Yesterday residents of Kankakee county found placards on telephone poles urging votes for Small, La Follette and Deneen's Democratic opponent for United States senator, Col. A. A. Sprague.

"Proof of Pudding is in Eating," Says Coolidge Dad.

Fermont, Vt., Nov. 2.—Col. John Coolidge, father of the President, today was noncommittal on the outcome of the national election. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," he said.

SMALL KNIFING COOLIDGE, SAMPLE BALLOTS REVEAL

Len and Lundin Mark for La Follette.

BY PARKE BROWN.
Gov. Len Small has knifed President Coolidge.

Thousands of sample ballots issued secretly by his organization, under the direction of Fred Lundin, are marked with a cross and pointing hand below the name of each of the twenty-nine La Follette electors.

It was known that Lundin intended to scratch State's Attorney Crowe and other local candidates, put up by rival Republican factions, but he "had not been even so sure" that he would go so far as to "double cross" a President nominated overwhelmingly by the Republican party of the nation.

Links Small-La Follette.

Apparently, however, to make certain that there could be no misunderstanding, the sample ballots are marked with a cross and pointing hand below the name of each of the twenty-nine La Follette electors.

On the reverse side of the ballot appears this text which might have emanated directly from La Follette headquarters:

"Today the government is largely controlled and directed by the agents of monopoly and special privilege—the international bankers, war lords, munition manufacturers, looters of the public domain, and the commercialized press—through their control of faithless public officials."

Bob's Platform Small's, Too.

"As Gov. Len Small in the primary campaign pledged the people that he would carry out the principles proclaimed in the platform adopted by the mass convention at Kankakee; and as the state convention pledged its support to these principles and policies and pledged Gov. Small that the Republicans of Illinois would cooperate with him to put such platform in force; and as the platform announced by Senator M. L. La Follette is alike in its effect and purpose with the Kankakee platform and our principles above stated:

"Therefore, we, who believe in these ideals as expressed by Senator La Follette and Gov. Len Small, deem it our duty to support the La Follette electors and Len Small for the government."

The La Follette state organization, the La Follette ballot, and Gov. Small, appeared last Friday, but there had not been even a rumor that Lundin's agreement with the La Follette managers would go as far as to bind him to oppose President Coolidge.

The forecast that Lundin would try to cripple and exterminate Cook county factions that had fought him was fulfilled, however, by his sample ballot, his markings distinguishing with the predictions made by some of his men for the last week.

Lundin Wants Small.

This last minute treachery is expected to have considerable effect on both the state and county ticket. The predictions are that it will reinforce the local's vote, especially when there is more or less general belief that it will lead to retaliations among the several Republican factions in Chicago.

Some of the ward leaders of the "regular" organization who knew of the threats against State's Attorney Crowe and Weber already have served notice on both Lundin and Deneen Leavenworth that their balloting and marking of knifing appeared they would retaliate in kind. And, in addition to the evidence of Lundin's conduct, some of them say that Deneen Leavenworth do not intend to play square with the "regulars."

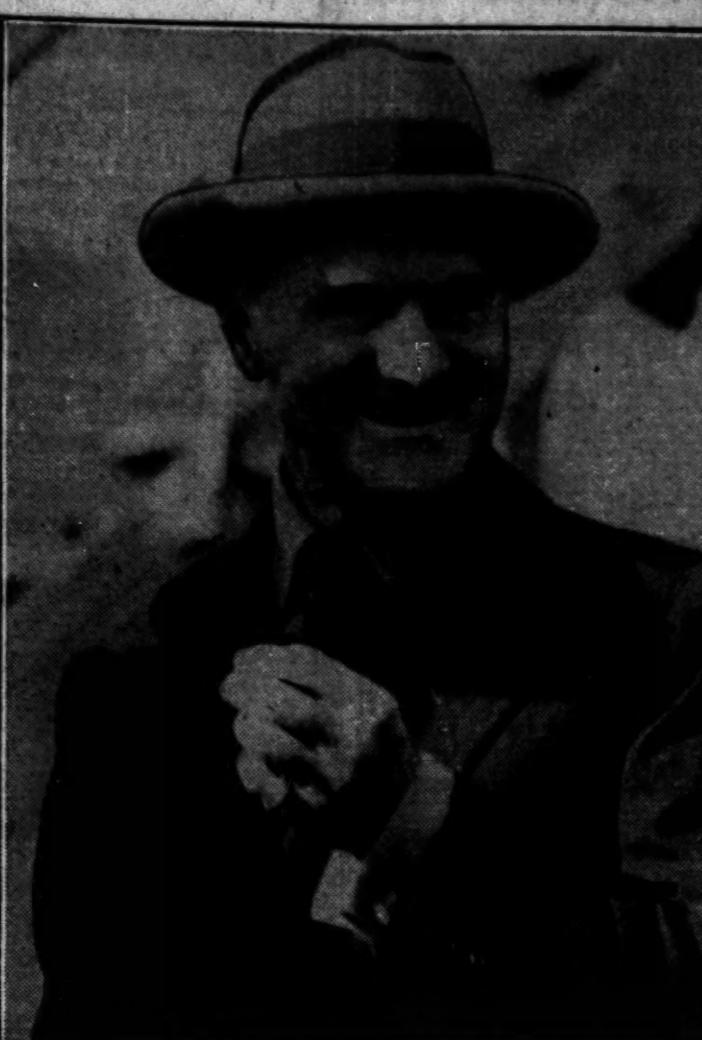

Expect 1,000,000 Votes.

There is every indication that the fight in Cook county will be characterized by bitterness among the Republican factions and that it will be a case of every man for himself.

Given fair weather, election commission representatives say, the total vote in Chicago will be between 900,000 and 900,000 and that in the country towns something in excess of an additional 100,000.

The knifing didn't stop here. The

JUDICIAL TICKET AS PICKED BY CHICAGO BAR ASSOCIATION POLL

Lundin ballot scratched Charles Ringer and Charles Kruckoff, nominees for the board of assessors; Thomas O. Wallace, a village man seeking the Circuit court clerkship, and Bernard W. Snow, nominee for chief bailiff of the Municipal court.

While there was a cross before the name of Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state, there was none before the names of Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, Oscar Nelson, nominee for state auditor, or Omer N. Custer, candidate for state treasurer.

This ballot, which had been prepared for the names of the Women's Lincoln Republican club, a names selected by Lundin and his aids after much consideration. It was chosen because of its close resemblance to the name of the Women's Roosevelt Republican club, which repudiated Small and endorsed Norman L. Jones, Democrat.

STAFF SAYS BOB WILL RUN DAVIS RAGGED IN NORTH

Drive for Second Place
as "Vindication."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

La Follette leaders focused final activities yesterday on preparations to roll up as large a vote as possible for "Fighting Bob" in big industrial states where he is deemed to have less than the proverbial Chinaman's chance of cutting into the electoral vote—such as New York, Ohio, and Illinois. The main hope of the La Follette camp now is to run second in the popular vote in the northern states and to increase, if possible, the La Follette group in Congress.

Bob's leaders declared last night that their final field reports indicate the Wisconsin senator will run John W. Davis ragged in most of the states outside the "solid south." Their inside talk is that north of the Mason and Dixon line the Davis-Bryan ticket will run third in the total popular vote.

Fight for "Vindication."

Yesterday headquarters stressed the theory that if La Follette can run second in the north and even run neck and neck with the Democratic ticket, it will be vindication enough of his candidacy. Leaders in the camp said it would start the ball rolling for the elections two and four years hence.

Senator La Follette spent the day resting at Madison among the home resting at Maple Bluff farm. He will receive election returns tonight in the governor's suite in the capitol. Despite the second year of the senator's absence to have completed his campaign tour in good physical shape. Men on his special train say he was in stronger form at the finish than at the start.

Bob Issues Final Appeal.

The senator made a last minute appeal to the public to "sweep the Progressive ticket into office" and to "increase the progressive group in Congress."

At Chicago headquarters, spellbinders, returning from the northwest stamping tour, made reports on which the La Follette managers claimed both Dakota and Nebraska are ready to drop into Bob's lap. Wisconsin they drop as a foregone conclusion, and they claim Minnesota.

Sol Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin and a unique character in Badger politics, came in from a speech-making tour of the east. Sol invaded Wall street and made a speech about the money power. From all accounts, it was a "wonder." In Wall street, Sol said yesterday, "when you see a man with chin whiskers like mine they think he is a Bolshevik. So, when I got up, some of them hollered, 'Where'd you come from?' I says, 'I'm president of a bank in Madison, Wis.' When I got through they almost mobbed me shaking hands."

From all accounts, when the parlor intelligent, when the frosty air outside, Sol packed his houses.

"I've got one rule in speechmaking," he says. "Before I get up to talk, I take the grammar and throw it out of the window. Then I let grammar cramp my style. They seem to like it."

Forty-four years ago La Follette broke into politics by running for prosecuting attorney of Dane county.

Today his son, Phillip, is seeking election to the office in which his father started.

SEEK MISSING YOUTHS, MONEY, AND THE WOMAN

The arrest of Lawrence Miller, the young insurance agent who is charged with the embezzlement of $20,000 to $40,000, will be accomplished within a few hours, police predicted last night.

Search of Miller's private papers in his office at 166 West Jackson boulevard disclosed a number of endearing letters from a woman whose name is being kept a secret, pending the expected arrest.

Her first name is said to be June. She is a divorcee, formerly the wife of a Chicago lawyer.

JONES WOMEN CERTAIN SMALL WILL BE BEATEN

Report Big Slump for the Governor Over State.

Closing a campaign which has been unique for the personal worth of the women interested, leaders of the Women's Independent Jones for Governor clubs, were last night that the feminine vote of the state will swing election victory to Norman L. Jones.

A campaign in which both Republican and Democratic women have combined for one candidate is in itself a departure in affairs political, but the intensity and the personal interest women leaders have taken in Jones candidacy makes this fall's campaign a new chapter in women's political activities.

Sanguine letters from leading women in every county and every town, pledging support for Jones, Mrs. Roy Dickey said last night, indicate the women's vote will center on Jones to defeat Small. Miss Edna Strohm, who has managed the organization of the Jones for Governor clubs, said she felt a Jones victory is assured if the women of the state vote as they have spoken and written these last few days.

Statement by Mrs. Dickey.

Mrs. Roy Dickey, state chairman of the Independent Jones for Governor clubs, said: "Local minute reports from all sections of the state indicate Gov. Small will be defeated tomorrow. In the accomplishment of this most desirable end, women have played an important part."

"What has encouraged me most in this campaign is found not only in the prospects of victory but in the proof that has been furnished that the women aroused in the cause of righteousness will forgive no man for the time and to themselves together for that which appeals to their consciences. That the same response to the dictates of conscience that influences her in all relations to life will command her efforts tomorrow."

Many Women Running.

The intensity of the women's activity in the campaign for governor has drawn some of the interest from the women candidates. Friends of Mary Ward Hart, candidate for congressman at large on the Democratic ticket, feel she has more than a fighting chance, because they believe the female part of the central and southern part of the state, which is said to be solid for her, will be augmented by the votes of men who have known and worked with Mrs. Hart in public philanthropy for years.

G. O. P. Sure to Capture General Assembly.

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The race between Gov. Smith and Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. for the governorship of New York promises to be a neck and neck affair.

The Democrats set 400,000 as the Smith plurality in the state. Those are the figures of Raymond V.

Prentiss, chairman of the citizens' committee for Gov. Smith. He asserted that the governor will carry the city by more than half a million and hold the Roosevelt upstate plurality to a scant 100,000.

Col. Roosevelt declined to set figures upon the pluralities he expects to a-tain. George K. Morris, Republican state chairman, has set those figures at 250,000, relying on polling at the Klan's vote above the Bronx.

"No Hatred for U. S."

Notwithstanding Gov. Smith's

margin of safety, it is all re-strenuous to strengthen their majorities in the upper house at the last margin of one vote.

Both the G. O. P. and the Republicans are expected to make a nonpolitical talk opening the national radio exposition at the Grand Central palace tomorrow. Odds in New York today were 1 to 1 for Coolidge and 11 to 5 for Smith.

Ald. Albert Says Derail
Was Discontinued.

Railroad customs and rules were the chief subjects of questioning at the inquest yesterday into the deaths of ten persons in the street car-freight train collision Sunday morning at North avenue and Kingsbury street. Only one witness, a railroad employee, gave testimony bearing directly on the accident, and he was undergoing a stiff examination when the inquest was adjourned until this morning.

Coroner Oscar Wolff had impanelled a "jury" composed of the following:

County Clerk Robert M. Switzer, Chief Justice Harry Olson, Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, Henry Barret Chamberlin, superintendent of the Chicago crime commission.

John Terborgh, vice president Foreman National bank.

Robert Etel, proprietor of the Randolph hotel.

Albert Springs Surprise.

Alderman Arthur Albert, present as representing the public, a letter showing that on July 20, 1919, the railroad and street car company discontinued a safety device at that crossing that would have made the collision impossible. It was a derail system, operated by a leverman, that would have derailed either the freight or street car or both, he said.

If the lever man gave the right of way to the freight, the passenger car would have stopped for the electric car. In addition to the derail, he explained, he said he understood the two companies shared the expense of the leverman who was then paid $124 per month, and that the letter shows in eliminating the derail, trolleymen were then employed at $65 per month to replace the levermen.

Jurors Take Active Part.

The jurors indicated a purpose of making an exhaustive inquiry to fix responsibility by asking many questions of the witness, James C. Flinn, 2390 West avenue, a switchman employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

Finn said he was a member of the crew of a north bound freight train Sunday morning at 1:45, and that his train had stopped across North avenue. The railroad guard gates were then down, he said, and after a time his train was "cut" to permit east and west bound traffic to cross the railroad track. A minute later the wreck occurred, he said.

Wolff Starts Questioning.

Coroner Wolff began the questioning.

"Where were you at the time of the accident?" he asked.

"I was standing about even with the north crosswalk of North avenue, between the two sets of railroad tracks," Finn answered.

"What did you see?"

"I saw the south bound freight train heading toward the crossing."

"Did you see the street car?"

"No. When the conductor ran on me he called to me to stop that street car. I was then trying to stop west bound automobiles and nearly got hit. I couldn't get over to the east bound track, and only saw the car over my right shoulder."

"Did you see the conductor run on me?"

"No. When the conductor ran on me he called to me to stop that street car. I was then trying to stop west bound automobiles and nearly got hit. I couldn't get over to the east bound track, and only saw the car over my right shoulder."

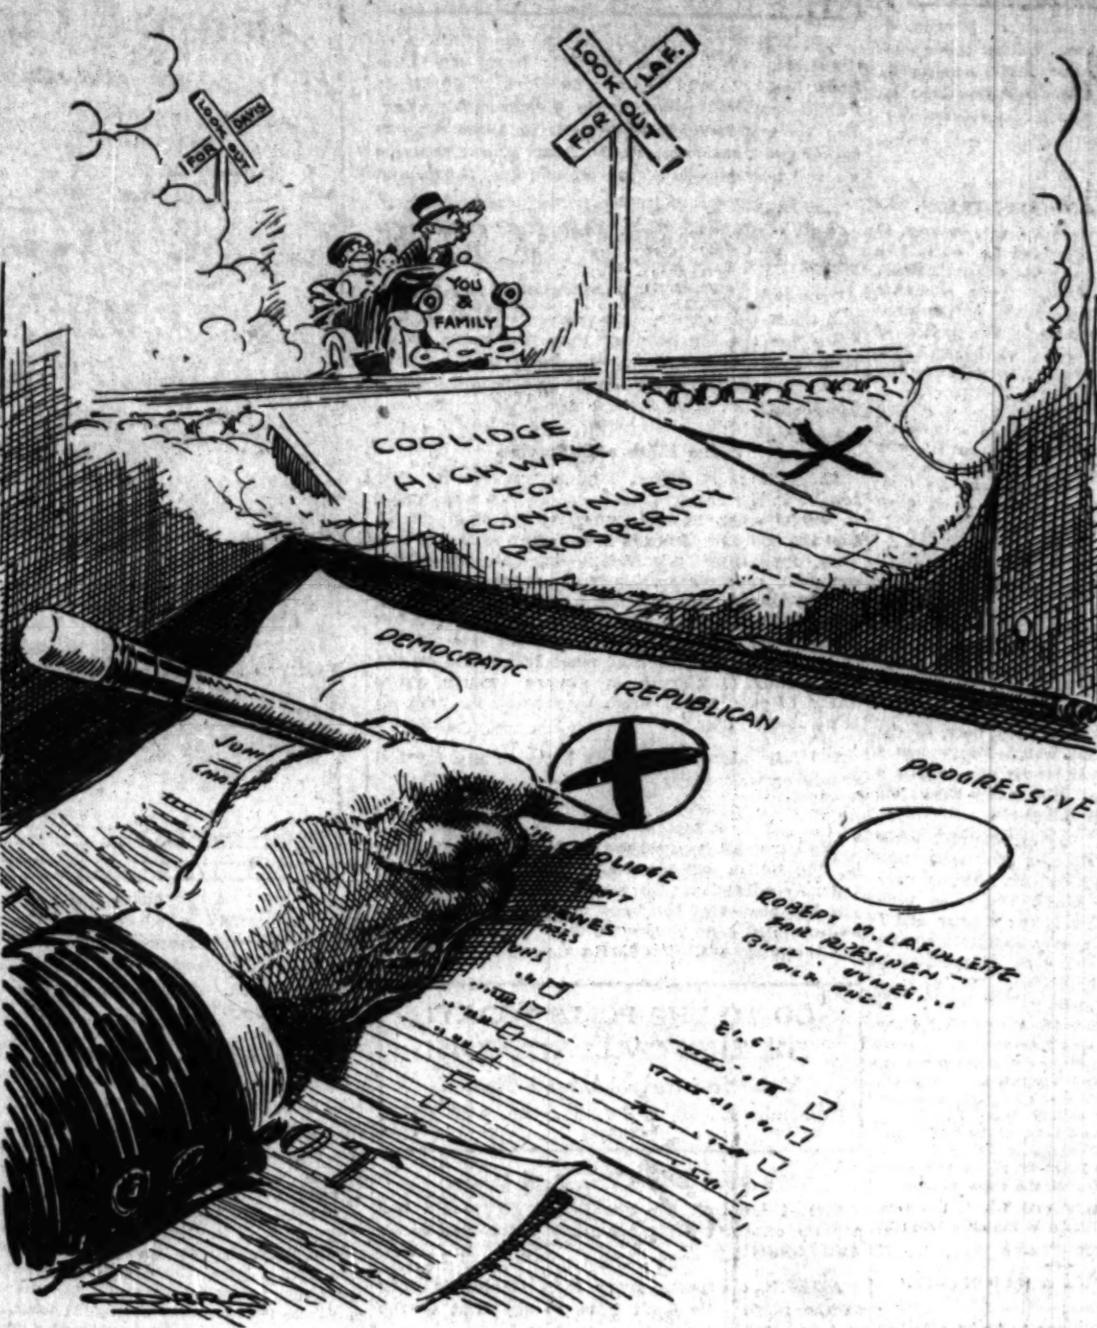

"No, I wasn't looking that way."

Former Gov. Dunne asked if there was a street light and was told there was a light on the northwest corner. Finn said he couldn't see the man on the freight car, but could see his hand. He said he heard the train that he had previously called to the trolleyman "Look out for the 'long line,'" which meant the freight train that hit the street car. He said he couldn't hear the train coming but knew that it was coming because he had seen the conductor a few minutes before and was expecting it.

GET NEW CLEWS TO $2,000,000 RONDOUT LOOT

U. S. Agents Trick Two of Bandit Leaders.

Brent Glasscock, leader of the Rondout robbery band, and Willis Newton, convicted murderer and the hardest of the five Newton brothers, held in the $2,000,000 mail raid case, met yesterday for the first time since the robbery in the office of Postal Inspector K. P. Aldrich.

The office previously had been strung with telephone wires. One by one inspectors, who had framed the meeting, were conveniently called from the room until the alleged robbers were left alone.

It was old stuff. But it worked.

It worked as smoothly as the old one.

Police Captain Shoemaker pulled on the same Willis by pretending to accept a $40,000 bribe when Willis was arrested a few days after the spectacular holdup on June 12.

Get Clews to Money.

As a result of the "reunion" inspectors under direction of Chief Postal Inspector Grant B. Miller of Chicago and Chief C. H. Glasscock of New York, dashed out on a series of new clews as to the whereabouts of the $1,000,000 in currency and the $900,000 in negotiable securities, the unrecovred loot of the robbery.

When the two men were brought together they at first showed no signs of recognition. After the room was cleared of officials, one inspector, "work," Glasscock "cracked" a bitter denunciation of Willis. On Saturday Willis went before Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe with his brother Willis and the pair changed their previous pieces of not guilty to guilty.

It was then announced that Willis had made a detailed confession just before his appearance in court. He is said to have named Glasscock, leader of the robber band and the man who shot him during the course of the raid. He also was reported to have named William J. Fahy, former star postal inspector, and Jimmie Murray, west side politician and beer runner.

Two Bandits Happy.

Postal inspectors last night refused to disclose what transpired after Glasscock and Newton had revealed they were old acquaintances, but after a few hours of the postal inspection, officials, the two desperados were in what was said to be a joyful mood.

After the session the men were taken to the lockup in United States Marshal Robert R. Levy's office, where they joined each other at a meal of sandwiches, cookies, and coffee.

It was said that Glasscock was brought from the five states because they are the only two that he is known to have had large sums of money in their possessions. Willis was able to raise $40,000 within a few hours after his arrest and Glasscock had $30,000 in currency and $50,000 in unset diamonds when he was taken last week at a Battle Creek, Mich., bank.

The trial of seven of this defendants will begin tomorrow in federal Judge George A. Carpenter's court.

PERSIANS AND TURKS AT ODDS OVER AZERBAIJAN

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

TEHERAN, Persia, Nov. 3.—Agitation in Turkey, as expressed in the official press of that country, for the annexation of the Persian portion of Azerbaijan is causing an outcry here.

Russia is taking advantage of the differences between these two Mohammedan countries, each with views so different that it considers the other unorthodox, to further its own ends.

Russia's annexation of Persian Azerbaijan is one of the richest oil fields in the Caucasus.

Consequently Russia is leaning towards Persia, expecting thereby to gain Persian support against Turkey. And Persia realizes that it would be easily cause serious trouble in the near east.

U. S. RAID TONG CHIEF'S PLACE IN VAIN FOR OPIUM

Federal narcotic agents last night raided the establishment of Chin Jack Lam at 2145 Archer avenue on search warrants issued by United States Commissioner Henry C. Belter, charging that several hundred thousand dollars' worth of opium had been cached in the basement.

Chin Jack Lam is said to have been the center of the national tong uprising recently, which resulted in four Chinese murders in Chicago and numerous killings elsewhere. The Chinese leader was reported to have precipitated trouble by leaving the On Leongs to join the Hop Sings, and the supposed big dope shipment was thought by federal agents to have been a factor in the trouble.

No opium was found.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 3.—Eleven persons were killed and four others were seriously injured late today when a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train struck a bus bound from Hampton for Poquoson at Lee's Crossing, near Hampton.

The accident occurred at a blind crossing, the view of the tracks being obscured by a row of houses. Only one of the injured has been able to make any statement as to the circumstances of the collision and none has been obtained tonight from the crew of the train.

The bodies of the killed and injured were strewn along the track for several hundred yards.

Mrs. William Etel and her infant daughter, twin of the four survivors, were found on the pile of the engine when the train came to a stop, the baby clasped in its mother's arms.

JONES WOMEN CERTAIN SMALL WILL BE BEATEN

Report Big Slump for the Governor Over State.

Closing a campaign which has been unique for the personal work of the women interested, leaders in the Women's Independent Jones for Governor clubs, were last night that the feminine vote of the state will swing election victory to Norman L. Jones.

A campaign in which both Republican and Democratic clubs have lined up for one candidate is in itself a departure in affairs political, but the intensity and the personal interest women leaders have taken in Jones' candidacy makes this fall's campaign a new chapter in women's political activities.

Sanguine letters from leading women in every county and every town, pledging support for Jones, Mrs. Roy Dickey, said last night, indicate the women's vote will center on Jones to defeat Small. Miss Edna Strohm, who has managed the organization of the Jones for Governor clubs, said she felt a Jones victory is assured if the women of the state vote as they have spoken and written these last few days.

Statement by Mrs. Dickey.

Mrs. Roy Dickey, state chairman of the Independent Jones for Governor clubs, said: "Last minute reports from women and women's organizations from all sections of the state indicate Gov. Small will be defeated to-morrow. In the accomplishment of this most desirable end, women have played an all important part."

"What has encouraged me most in this campaign is found not only in the prospects of victory but in the proof that has been furnished that the women are aroused in the cause of right-eousness and are uniting to bind the time and bind themselves together for that which appeals to their conscience. That the same response to the dictates of conscience that influences her in all relations to life will command her efforts tomorrow."

Many Women Running.

The intensity of the women's activity in the campaign for governor has drawn some of the interest from the women candidates. Friends of Mary Ward Hart, candidate for congressman at large on the Democratic ticket, feel she has more than a fighting chance, because they believe the female voters of the central and southern part of the state, which is said to be solid for her, will be augmented by the votes of men who have known and worked with Mrs. Hart in public philanthropy for years.

Russian Minister to Mexico Arrives

BY FREDERICK NEUMAYER
[Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, Nov. 3.—It does not make any difference who is elected President in the United States tomorrow. This is the general feeling in Russia.

Stanislaw Pestkowsky, soviet minister to Mexico and the first soviet diplomat on the American continent, made this statement to THE TRIBUNE

today.

"When Warren Harding was elected President, the new minister said, "there were certain indications that negotiations would be resumed with Russia. Mr. Vandenberg came to Russia with a signed letter from Mr. Harding, indicating that "I will win despite activities of the 'shirt tail rangers."

In an editorial under the heading "The Prodigal's Return," White declared:

"The people have no animosity against America and no hatred, but naturally there is feeling against the United States because it is the largest country which has not yet recognized the soviet.

M. Pestkowsky speaks English well, having been educated in the University of London. Since the beginning of the revolution he has held many important posts, including that of first director of the Bank of Russia after the revolution.

Klanmen Suspended.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 3.—Charles H. Specking further of relations with the United States, he said:

"We understand very well that the large mass of the population in the United States is not opposed to our union of Soviets. So far as official relations are concerned, we must only wait and see."

"The elections in England were not of much importance. The government was more of a labor government by name than anything else. It was not really labor politics which were defeated."

Charge of Election Unimportant.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 3.—Charles H. Specking further of relations with the United States, he said:

"John W. Davis were the same as those of the delegation from the Ku Klux Klan of G. K. Lawrence, Tolson, and Sidney Lincoln, Burlingame, were made in a telegram to Clem L. Shaver, Democratic national chairman by State Chairman Fred Robertson.

Charge of Election Unimportant.

Wichita, Kas., Nov. 3.—Charles H. McBrayer, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan's realm of Kansas, today branded as "absolutely false" the statement by Fred Roberts, Democratic state chairman that two members of the Klan were suspended from the organization for supporting Democratic candidates in the November election.

Emporia, Kas., Nov. 3.—[United pendent candidate for governor on an anti-klan platform, returned to his desk on his

and was confident that "I will win

despite activities of the 'shirt tail

In an editorial under the heading "The Prodigal's Return," White declared:

"The job is done. We have got to the people with the Klan issue. I W. ALLEN WHITE have kept that issue before them for six weeks and have removed from scores of small towns the curse of silence which the Klan has put upon the issue.

VOTE.

The citizens who can get to the polls today and does not desert our country in the face of the enemy. He or she is asleep on the post of duty.

These are platitudes but not the less true and deserving of respect because they are plain and vividly worded.

This is a late appeal, but if you have not voted when you read it, go and cast your vote without delay. If the line is long, don't weaken. After all it is a little time to give for the first of our public duties, a very little sacrifice to make for the sake of our self-respect as citizens, a small price of time and trouble to pay for the exercise of a privilege men have fought and died for.

FOR THE SHORT BALLOT.

The voter who takes his main ballot of 3 feet by 2 1/2 feet, with a handful of little ballots, into the booth and has five minutes for physical manipulation and political decision may admit when he comes out that democracy is crowding him a bit. What he'll want to do is take the ballot out on the sidewalk and spread it where he can really work on it. He may wonder whether it is really conducive to good government to submit to him these increasing details of administration. He'd be better off on one-third the ballot.

BASEBALL IN GREAT BRITAIN.

We know the English are a great little people, but we never have understood how they stood for cricket. Cricket is for comfortable fat people who would not extend a boundary ten feet in a hundred years. There is no empire in it. People who could sit through a game which required two days during which time enthusiasm was indecorous would be too placid to be out after real estate in all parts of the world. And yet there is cricket and there is the British empire, reconcile them as you may.

Every time an effort is made to interest the British in baseball it is a bust. The New York National and the Chicago American teams are in Great Britain now playing exhibition games which are received politely except as critical candor prompts derision.

To most Americans cricket is intolerable. The bowling would interest an American spectator for a while. He wouldn't understand the batting. It is an art as closed to him as the batting of an American ball player is closed to the Englishman. The Manchester Guardian reporter said that this "thwacking" was stupid and dull and the batsman usually slugged the ball into deep field into a big glove which always was under it.

Mr. McGraw of the New York team says he does not understand how the English can get this way. All the swift precision of the fielding is lost to English eyes. To an American the fielding in cricket is a joke. It is understandable that the duel between pitcher and batter is a closed mystery. Just as that between the English bowler and batter is a closed mystery to Americans, but in baseball there is the snap, dash, and speed of the modern age of the automobile. In cricket is the leisure of the ox cart, of which this is not the age.

Crikey is not the game of the English masses. They're for football, and as Mr. McGraw remarked, there can be just as much noise at an English football game as at an American baseball game, but it would be indecorous at cricket.

It is useless for the two nations to try to find a common ground in between baseball and cricket. The people who do not play the game do not like it. Europe and South America have a lot of fun with international soccer. That is not our game. We think that American college football not only is more expressive of national temperament but is the highest development of football science. The English might like that, and in subsequent years Illinois might meet Oxford, home and home.

CANADA AND THE PROTOCOL.

Canada has, of course, a delegation in the assembly of the league of nations. Its chairman is Senator Raoul Dandurand, who says Canada will sign the protocol amending the covenant of the league in spite of the immigration issue.

We note that Senator Dandurand is from a part of Canada which is probably not yet as conscious of an interest in the Japanese exclusion question as it may be later. We may be wrong, but we should hazard the opinion that western Canada is not so complacent as Senator Dandurand. Whether western Canada can get its vital interest in exclusion protected by the Canadian delegation we cannot say, but we do say that in the protocol as adopted at Geneva, it is not protected.

Perhaps the Canadians are willing to submit their exclusion laws to international arbitration. We don't think they are, any more than the South Africans or the Australians or we are. If they are not, why give adherence to the protocol which offers them no aid in case of attack by Japan on that basis? It is true the protocol binds its signatories to mutual aid against an aggressor. But Japan cannot be held an aggressor if Canada refuses to arbitrate. If Japan applies to the international court for adjudication of the exclusion question, it is assumed the court will dismiss the application on the doctrine that immigration is a domestic question. But Japan can still appeal to the league council on the ground that its national interests are at stake and that war is threatened.

and if the council invites Canada, or the United States, or whatever nation is involved to present its case and that country refuses, it would seem that the council cannot hold Japan an aggressor if it resorts to arms in defense of inability to procure an arbitral hearing and decision.

The result of this process would be to put Canada or whatever nation excludes in the position of refusing peaceful settlement and while permitting Japan to attack would relieve her from the coercion of the league powers as an aggressor.

We do not assert that these diplomatic tactics would certainly and decisively influence world opinion in favor of Japan, but they could be used as a smoke screen for such forces as wished to attack, and, as we know, the impudent ones are not to be scorned. But at the least they would free any signatory of the protocol from the obligation of assisting Canada, and if that be the result, what interest has Canada in assuming the obligations of the protocol? If she has a more vital interest than the right to control immigration, we do not know what it is, and the protocol offers her no aid as to that right, but does impose obligations.

A HISTORIAN WARNS.

We call the attention of our readers to the letter of Prof. James H. Breasted, published in the Voice of the People today, regretting that it was received so late in the campaign. But this election cannot dispose of the question to which the letter is addressed, no matter what happens to Senator La Follette today. Attempts to break down the judicial defense of our constitutional system began soon after the adoption of the constitution and have been repeated off and on during the republic's history.

They will reappear, and our confidence that they will always fail must be founded, not upon the effect of any particular election, but upon the continuing ability of our people to see through the sophistries of argument to the substantial realities which support the court's authority.

We would emphasize Prof. Breasted's views because he is a historian, in fact one of the most distinguished of historians, whose writings are vital with the sense of human life and the lessons of human experience through the long procession of the centuries. It is well for Americans to pay attention to history. As a people we have been preoccupied with the present or with the future, and tend to forget that they and the past are one fabric. "Every man of sense knows that in the conduct of important affairs his most valuable guide is experience," writes Prof. Breasted, and he adds: "Human experience has shown very conclusively that it is a disastrous policy to intrust the destinies of a nation to an uncontrolled popular assembly." And we would add that human experience has shown also that the affliction of popular governments has been the rise of self-styled friends of the people whose sway is obtained through appeals which cannot afford to abide the examination of reason or the admittance of experience.

No greater misfortune could happen to this republic or any other than to be delivered into the influence of demagogues. The United States need never fear the rise of a tyrant, unless we let demagogues destroy liberty, as they can destroy it far more disastrously than any Caesar, and thus make tyranny welcome as the only alternative to the worse evils of anarchy.

PACIFISM COULD BEGIN AT HOME.

Pacifism, like a good many other things, might very well begin at home, in some respects, and start abroad others. There would be nothing but good if our pacifists could teach our warring clans to be peaceful. Niles, O., where the Klux and anti-Klux shot it out, would be a good meeting place for our pacifists. Herrin, Ill., would be another good place of concentration for them. There could be home missions to teach Americans to live in peace with each other and foreign missions to teach other nations to live in peace with the United States. Japan would be a fine place for an elaborate and earnest effort of American pacifists.

As it is here and as it was revealed at Niles, O., the only thing which keeps some Americans from starting a civil war over liberties they ought to grant each other is the instrument the pacifists are trying to destroy—the army.

Editorial of the Day

TWENTY YEARS OF SUBWAYS.

The twentieth anniversary today of the opening of the first subway in New York renews mixed emotions. Most citizens will feel that it is like the reputed case of some women—we can't live with the subways, yet we can't live without them. The part which they have played in the development of Greater New York is seen by all to have been indispensable. Immense new areas were brought within the range of building operations and of taxation. The system itself was, in its engineering and mechanical aspects, a triumph of designing. If the plan for gradual extension of the subways in cooperation with the city government, could have been carried out, the perplexities and exasperations of the present rapid transit predicament might have largely avoided.

As for the first arrangements for financing the subways in partnership with the city, they were believed at the time, by all traffic experts and also by the city authorities, to be the only way by which the money for making that urgent improvement could have been secured. The wisest men cannot foresee anything. No one twenty years ago could have forecast the immense financial dislocations caused by the world war. If the operating companies had had even a faint inkling of what was coming, they would have husbanded their resources more carefully, and not distributed in large dividends funds that should have been judiciously kept as a reserve. Doubtless mistakes were made on both sides, but the biggest mistake, the policy that had mistake written all over it, belonged to the city administration during the last seven years. How much this has cost New York in dollars and cents through delayed expansion and obstacles thrown in the way of business it would be impossible to compute. What it has cost residents and travelers in the shape of discomfort and a sense of bodily peril and physical outrage, hundreds of thousands of indignant people are ready to testify.

Happily, there are signs that the city hall policy of brute obstruction to subway development is breaking down.

ONCE THERE WAS A PRINCE.

Bernard Shaw, as every one knows, is self-possessed to the verge of being inhuman. In a letter to a friend he once illustrated the fact that he never cried over split milk by likening himself to an Indian prince whose favorite wife, when banqueting with him, caught fire and was burnt to ashes before she could be extinguished. The Indian prince took in the situation at once and faced it in a thoroughly Shawian manner. "Sweep up your messes," he said to his serving staff, "and bring in the roost pheasant!"—Pasing Shaw.

"Hello, the club? Is my husband there? Not there, you say? But wait—I haven't even told you my name!"

"Say, lady! There ain't nobody's husband over here!"—Black and Blue Jay.

THE SODA HABIT.

H. writes: Will you please tell me how to break myself from using baking soda? I suffer from sour stomach and slight coughing still persist. Menses have not appeared in two months. Would the result of catching cold be the cause? I keep home for my three sisters but do not have any heavy work.

REPLY.

The soda habit is one of the drug habits. Unlike the morphine habit, the soda habit does not cause a drug hunger. It is taken because the addict has symptoms which he thinks are relieved by the use of soda. He wants relief and he takes soda to get it.

Let him stop taking soda and try to get relief in some other way. After stopping, he will never crave soda though he may crave relief. In the first place, soda is an agent for relief and is only about so per cent satisfactory. In the second, taking soda causes acidity. The stomach secretes acid to neutralize the alkali and having started it keeps it up for good measure. Presently, the acidity excreted will be too great. Sodas knock out the large quantities of soda disturbs the mineral balance of the body and especially the balance between acids and alkalies. An exact balance between acid and alkalies is essential for continued health. In the fourth place, regarding the discomfort caused by acidity and taking no steps to set matters right is like holding a baby's head still as a cure for spasms.

REPLY.

There are many causes for acid stomach. Among them are: Gall stones, infected gall bladder, constipation, chronic appendicitis, adhesions, and ulcer of the stomach or duodenum. A person having acidity of the stomach should always try to find and remove the cause rather than take soda. Keeping it up under the soda habit results adds insult to injury.

A frequent cause and one that is easily remedied is chronic constipation. The diet cure for that is generally effective. Another rather easily remedied cause is certain habits. Horseback riding, tennis, golf, long walks, and other forms of exercise will cure acid stomach due to sedentary habits. Worry and anxiety is another remedial cause.

Acidity due to infected gall bladder, gall stones, adhesions, and appendicitis is a third. Ulcers are another difficult cause of acidity that is difficult to cure. Just now the pure fat diet cure of Dr. L. is being tried out.

SENATOR COLE, LINCOLN FRIEND, IS CALLED AT 102

California's Grand Old Man Passes On.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—Cornelius Cole, former United States senator and friend of Abraham Lincoln, died at his home here today. He was 102 years and 3 months old. The direct cause of death, physicians announced, was incipient pneumonia, old age, and a touch of heart disease. He had been in frail health for several months, so much so that celebration of his last birthday was limited to members of the family at his residence.

Senator Cole had expected to vote to-day, and during the closing days of his career had expressed confidence that President Coolidge would be returned to office. "He's a fine young fellow," Cole said.

Remembered Revolution.

Mr. Cole was born at Lodi, N. Y., Sept. 17, 1822—the year after Napoleon's death. He remembered that during his childhood days the depressing effect of the revolutionary war had not yet entirely passed away, and he recalled having seen soldiers who had served under Washington in the days of '76.

The senator saw the first pony express arrive at San Francisco in 1860.

During the civil war Mr. Cole occupied a seat in the house of representatives and in 1865 was elected to the United States senate from California, serving until 1877.

In 1921 Senator Cole appeared once again in Washington and took his old place in the senate, there to receive

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by auto, gun, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

The tribute of a new generation that was guiding the affairs of the nation.

Called Drink a Help.

When asked his views on prohibition a short time ago, Senator Cole said there were "a few" who thought a good drink was an inspiration "—and that's all I can add that 'even a great man' articles of food contain an inspiration." Having used tobacco in moderation for four more years, he says he quit its use five years ago because he believed smoking had a tendency to interfere with his heart action.

BLEICH NAMED BY VIENNA AS NEW HEAD OF OPERA

Vienna, Austria, Nov. 3.—Richard Steiner definitely announced his resignation as the director of the Vienna opera today.

Behind the resignation of Herr Strauss is the failure of his operatic ballet "The Cream Puff" which was staged at a cost of $21,000 and which failed to bring in any returns. It is reported that friends agreed to make this sum good but in the meantime the expenses for the failure were met out of state funds.

Herr Strauss asserts he will take a long vacation from his operatic duties.

CHILD, TWO MEN DAY'S SCORE OF DEATHS BY AUTO

Three were added yesterday to the county's list of victims of motor accidents, a little girl making the year's total to date 567. Two men, one of them 60, made up the day's score.

Rose Lancino, 6, of 2659 Wentworth avenue, died at the Wesley Memorial hospital last night. She was struck by a car driven by Lawrence Russo, 2127 South Wells street. The child was crossing the street in front of 2329 Wentworth avenue. Russo, who stopped his auto, was taken to the Cottage Grove avenue police station.

Two More Deaths.

The day's other deaths were:

HERMAN JESKE, 4149 North Charmoni avenue, who was struck by an automobile Oct. 23, died at his home.

The coroner is making an investigation.

Elmer Finds Silent Night Nigh Ideal

Programs of Distant Sta- tions Give Him Joy.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

This listener would call last night an ideal silent night—plus Reception in general extremely good, and it contained those features of consider-able importance.

First in order of time was the fourth anniversary program by KDKA, East Pittsburgh, the world's pioneer broadcasting station, so it was with keen interest that this station was tuned in at 7:50. In an instant we were listening to H. B. Davis, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric company, who gave a brief history of broadcasting from its simple beginning.

We are sure the radio listeners of this little town join us in wishing KDKA many, many more anniversaries.

At this point I mention the singing of "Star of Descending Night" (Odensøn), by the male quartet of Mount Vernon Place church, South, WCAP, Washington, because many listeners must have heard their "Farewell, Farewell" ending, and I hope it did, for it was lovely.

At 8:15, while listening to WLW, Cincinnati, W-G-N came on the air for the John W. Davis address from WEAF's studio, New York. Fourteen stations were connected for this address, including WWD, Northeast, Minn., and WDAF, Kansas City—this being the farthest point west. Announcer Graham McNamee in his introductory talk called Mr. Davis "One of the greatest orators of this generation." Mr. Davis' address was much of a recapitulation of his previous addresses.

And I was listening to WEAF at a few minutes of 9, when President Coolidge's address from WCAP, Washington, was announced, so all the stations were linked up for President Coolidge's address: twenty-seven stations from Boston, Mass., to Seattle, Wash. Wonderful, simply wonderful!

Announcer at WCAP neglected to say the President is also some considerable orator. President Coolidge began speaking while I was listening to WCAP, but I soon shut off due to high power and tuned in W-G-N. The reception on both addresses was clear!

The most enjoyable musical moment of the evening was the playing of Chopin's Ballade in G minor by Richard Hines from WCBF, Zion, Ill.

Well, here's wishing good luck for KDKA, and more silent Monday nights just like last night.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

(Tuesday, Nov. 4.)

ELECTION

Just settle down in front of the radio set tonight and don't move the dial away from 370 meters or 345 meters. The former is the wave length of W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, and the latter is WLS, the Sears-Roebuck station, from both of which The Tribune will broadcast election bulletins and summaries.

The returns will be broadcast from microphones in the newsroom of The TRIBUNE as fast as they are received from its many correspondents, who are to use wire, phone, and radio in shooting them in. They will be tabulated and analyzed by The Tribune's news staff and a corps of statisticians, and as fast as they are compiled they will be given to "Sen. Kancy at the W-G-N microphone and George D. Hay, "the solemn old judge," at the WLS "mike."

W-G-N will be on the air during the alternate hours of the evening, 6 to 7, 8 to 9, 10 to 11, 12 to 1, and possibly from 2 to 4. WLS will broadcast continuously from 6 o'clock in the evening until the last edition has gone to press.

These election returns will be received by radio at massmeetings, free to the public, to be held at the Patten gymnasium at Evanston, on the north side of the Art Institute in Grant park, and on the south side of the Art Institute. At each meeting the returns will be thrown on screens and bands will furnish music.

Get tuned in early and listen to "Sen. Kancy and the Judge." Music by the Lyon & Healy organ will fill the lulls between the returns, from 6 to 8:30, by the Drake concert ensemble and Blackstone string quintet between 8:30 and 9:30, and 7 and 8 and 9:30, and by Jack Chapman's dance orchestra between 10 and 11.

The Board of Trade and the Chicago Stock exchange will be closed today. There will be no forenoon market reports and no summaries and quotations between 5 and 5:30.

PRODUCTION BIGGEST
DAILY IN OIL HISTORY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special)—For the first time in the history of the oil industry daily gasoline production reached an average of 25,000,000 gallons during the entire month of September, according to a report issued today by the bureau of mines. Owing to the shortness of the month, however, the total output of 750,000,000 gallons fell 5,000,000 gallons below that of August.

The domestic demand also fell 100,000,000 gallons short of the record consumption attained in August, due to the waning automobile demand. The foreign demand, expressed in exports, continued, however, reaching more than 100,000,000 gallons and causing a reduction in gasoline stocks of 80,000,000 gallons.

"Stocks of gasoline on hand at refineries on Oct. 1 stood at 1,320,000,000 gallons, or fifty-days' supply at the present rate of domestic demand," the report states.

"This compares with forty-five days' supply on hand on Oct. 1 of last year."

serting that a public official should not hold one position while running for another.

Insisted on Earning Pay.

In 1914 he surprised city officials during a heated political campaign by returning his pay check to the controller with the statement that much of his time had been devoted to the campaign, and "I have no right, therefore, to accept money from the city which I have not earned."

Mr. McKenna lived with his family in the home at 7442 Sheridan road for seventeen years. In addition to his work for the city, Mr. McKenna engaged in speculations in real estate, principally in the Rogers Park and Edgewater districts.

Mr. McKenna, a former president of the Irish Fellowship club and former grand knight of the Illinois Council of the Knights of Columbus, is survived by Mrs. McKenna and seven children, four sons and three daughters.

Mr. McKenna resigned his post as attorney for the board of local improvements in the Harrison administration when he decided to offer himself as a candidate for the bench, as

"BLOODY" COUNTY TO VOTE UNDER EYE OF MILITARY

Williamson Troops Will Patrol Polling Places.

Marion, Ill., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Williamson county will vote under military protection tomorrow. Sheriff George Galligan has requested Capt. William Butler of Springfield, and Capt. Harold M. Bigelow of Salem, to have every national guardman now on duty in the county, and who have been here for two months, to take posts in the most populous places of the county. Sheriff Galligan has heard reports of threatened trouble. He said today that "everyone shall have an opportunity to vote and vote as he pleases. While no trouble is anticipated, we will be prepared for anything that might occur."

There is one company of guardmen from Springfield and a detachment of guardmen from Salem on duty in the county. These guardmen with a "riding detachment" will patrol the forty precincts of the county.

NILES 'EVIDENCE' VANISHES

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Niles, O., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—This hotbed of hatred between the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of the Flaming Circle today remained under control of the militia.

It developed that most of the twenty Klansmen who had been in the city followed the shooting which took in by the soldiers for carrying concealed weapons. Some of these were charged with offense, others with the military charge of insubordination, tantamount to the civil disorderly conduct.

No Evidence Procured.

But it is admitted that the authorities have no evidence that these men were in the fighting between the opposing "knights," and while they are still held, it is probable they will be released with a small fine and a warning.

Maj. Gen. Benson W. Hough admits that it will be extremely difficult to prove the accusations, and his opinion seems to be that the investigation will not get anywhere.

About a thousand soldiers came to Niles Saturday. Their evacuation started Sunday night and today only about three hundred men remain. It is planned to remove more soldiers from day to day.

Mother Put on Probation for Starving Children

Mrs. Clara Chartrand, a widow of three weeks, was placed on probation for one year by Judge William L. Morgan yesterday. She was arraigned for contributing to the delinquency of her two small children. For three days, it was charged, she kept her children locked in their apartment at 2313 West Madison street without food. According to testimony submitted, Mrs. Chartrand had been drinking with women and had for three days. The cries of the children aroused neighbors. They called the police, who were forced to break into the apartment.

sented by them. They are greatly in the minority. Our country is always safe when decisions are made by a majority of those who are entitled to vote. It is always in peril when decisions are made by a minority.

Women's Duty Outline.

"Lately we have added to our voting population the womanhood of the nation. I do not suppose that George Washington could be counted as one who would have favored placing on the women of his time the duty and responsibility of taking part in elections. Nevertheless, he had such a deep realization of the importance of their influence upon public affairs that he was instrumental in adopting our federal constitution that it provides for the election of a president by the people.

"A spirit of accommodation was happily infused into the leading characters of the continent and the minds of men were gradually prepared, by disappointment, for the reception of a good government. Nor could I rob the fairer sex of their share in the glory of a revolution so honorable to human nature, for, indeed, I think you will agree in the number of the best patriots America can boast."

Cap Affect Our Future.

"What was then done by indirect influence is now possible through direct action. If women of that day were willing to support what was only a vision, a promise, surely in this day they will be willing to go to the ballot box to support what has become an actual and permanent realization of their desires.

"If therefore urge on all the voters of our country, without reference to party, that they assemble tomorrow at their respective voting places in the exercise of the high office of American citizenship, that they approach the ballot box in the spirit that they would approach the altar of God, and thus disregarding all appeals to passion and prejudice, dedicating themselves truly and wholly to the welfare of their country, they make their choice of public officers solely in the light of their own conscience."

DAVIS' PLEA TO VOTERS

New York, Nov. 3.—John W. Davis closed his campaign tonight with an address over the radio. The nominees spoke in the presence of only twenty persons.

"Through this most miraculous of all modern inventions," Mr. Davis said, "I am enabled tonight to give to the people a closing word concerning the issues of this campaign and the duty that awaits them tomorrow. I wish to do so in no spirit of partisanship or self-seeking; nor merely as a candidate appealing for your votes but as an American speaking to Americans concerning matters that involve our common welfare and the future of our beloved country."

"I am convinced that I can be of more service in helping to bring about the more effective organization of farmers outside the department of agriculture than I could in the department itself.

"For the reason above, I shall have to ask you not to endorse me for the place because if it were tendered I should feel it my duty to decline."

FRANK O. LOWDEN.
(C. C. Madsen.)

The former governor telephoned his reply to organizations who requested his permission to endorse him.

Mr. Lowden's telegram follows:

"Your telegram received asking me if it would be agreeable to you to consent to endorse me for nomination as secretary of agriculture. As I think you know, for a number of years I have been earnestly advocating farmers' organizations as the only method for permanent betterment of farm conditions."

"I am convinced that I can be of more service in helping to bring about the more effective organization of farmers outside the department of agriculture than I could in the department itself.

"For the reason above, I shall have to ask you not to endorse me for the place because if it were tendered I should feel it my duty to decline."

All Can Gauge Issues.

"In the mind of every man and woman who goes to the polling places tomorrow the question which should be uppermost is the plain question of right or wrong. Every one of us, if we will but listen to the voice of conscience, can say what is fair and what is unfair, what is moral and what is immoral, what is right and what is wrong.

"There is no one who does not know that participation on the part of public officials is not only a wrong in itself but a crime against free government. No matter to what party one belongs, only should be ready to condemn the other. The president, Roosevelt, once said, 'being that he should condemn it more severely and promptly in his own party than in the ranks of a party for which he is not responsible.'

"This is the first election held since the corruption at Washington was exposed, and the only way in which the citizens of the country can express their opinion concerning it is by their votes.

Last Rap at the Tariff.

"Is it right or wrong that every housekeeper in the country should be compelled, as the result of a prohibitive tariff, to pay more for everything she buys in order to increase the profits of industries that were already prosperous? Is it right or wrong that a tariff bill should be written, not by the people's representatives but by those who are most interested in schedules which will not be able to afford them to suit themselves?"

"Is it right or wrong that America should fail to do everything she can to promote disarmament and produce a lasting peace in the world?

"One thing is sure: There can be no prosperity in any country, where the people do not have confidence in their government, and this confidence can come only from the knowledge that men in office are thoroughly honest and that the laws are fair and just, and impartially administered.

Represents Party's Policies.

"The policies which the Democratic party would enforce if trusted with power include:

"But the punishment of men who may be proved guilty of actual crime while holding office as well as those who have conspired with them, and a thorough purging of the government service of the incompetents and unfit."

"The dethronement of privilege and inequality upon equal opportunity to all."

"Tariff revision that will injure no legitimate industry, but will make it impossible for men to plunder his neighbor under government license."

"Strict economy in government and a reduction of all taxes."

"Maintenance of the civil service and proper compensation for all government employees."

"Honest, efficient, and sympathetic administration of the veterans' bureau."

"Panaceas for the Farmers."

"Such laws as will enable the farmer to prosper in his own right and put them on terms of economic equality with other occupations."

"A sympathetic attitude towards the laboring man, giving him an opportunity to be heard in any matters of grave concern that concern his rights and welfare."

"Opposition to a further increase of bureaucratic government and to the taking over by the federal government of duties which can be better performed by the states."

"A dedication of the energies of weak, puny children to giving them appetite and vigor."

"If you're tired of being scrubby and run-down, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Gross' Cod Liver Oil Tablets. They're as easy to take as candy, and they certainly do the business, building you up and giving you new pep and energy."

FENG'S TROOPS IN TIENSIN AS EX-CHIEF FLEES

Yanks Help Guard City Against Looting.

BY CHARLES FOX.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 3.—Gen. Wu Pei-fu, formerly considered China's greatest general, who in his latest war with Gen. Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden war lord, was betrayed by one of his chief lieutenants, the Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang, fled to Taku today. He hopes to embark on a Chinese ship for Tsingtao.

Gen. Feng's troops are entering Tientsin. American, British, French, Japanese, and Italian warships and troops are now protecting the city against looting by the defeated, leaderless, and unpaid troops of Gen. Wu.

Artillery fire heard in the city today alarmed the natives and Chinese refugees are pouring into the foreign concessions.

Gen. Wu, when told to save his life and property by entering the foreign concession, said:

"I have no property and I don't care about my life."

The civil war is now considered to be over.

Marshal Tuan to Take Charge.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PEKING, Nov. 3.—Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang announced tonight that he will preserve order in Tientsin, where the foreign гарнизоны are reinforced by warships, including the United States gunboat Asheville, while the United States destroyers Steward and Pillsbury protect the Standard Oil company property at Hsinking, where there was a disturbance among the troops. One foreign pilot was bayoneted and another drowned.

Marshal Tuan Chi Jul is coming to Peking shortly to take over the government under the title of commander

PARIS EDITION OF TRIBUNE TO FLASH ELECTION RETURNS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, Nov. 3.—The European edition of THE TRIBUNE has arranged a system for Tuesday night and Wednesday morning whereby the results of the election will be brought to the large American colony in Paris as quickly as the difference in time between the United States and France permits.

A feature of this service will be slides, beginning at midnight, on a screen outside of the Trianon visitors' room in the center of Paris, as well as special editions of THE TRIBUNE from 3 a. m. until Wednesday morning.

In the election the results have reached fever heat, probably because the colony here cannot vote, but takes it out in discussing and betting. The odds offered are much lower than in the United States, however. The highest offered on President Coolidge, either in French or American circles, 3 to 1. At the New York bar Andy Gump is still far ahead.

The French are awaiting close attention to tomorrow's vote in America, and although most papers declare they expect President Coolidge's victory is still a chance of the election going to congress. Undoubtedly political opinion here favors John W. Day.

In chief of the people's army, but eventually he will head the government in whatever form it may take. He insists that parliament is illegal, and therefore is not likely to permit his election as successor of former President Tuan Chi Kun.

Japs to Block Strong Government.

The impression prevails here that the Japanese, who will regain their influence, will not permit any government to be formed with the leader, but will endeavor to have the Tuan Chi Kun-Wei-fu faction represented or placed that complete reorganization will be impossible. Whatever government is created it will be of a provisional nature, with chances of reunification farther away than at any time since the monarchy fell.

BRITISH KING IN LONDON TO 'SIGN OFF' LABOR RULE

Red Note Quiz Delays MacDonald Exit.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—King George returned to London today, prepared to receive Prime Minister MacDonald's resignation and send for Stanley Baldwin, the conservative leader, who will form the new government.

Mr. MacDonald and all the cabinet members are also back in London, but it is not likely that their resignations will take effect before Wednesday or Thursday. The present government is determined to finish its inquiry into the authenticity and circumstances of the publication of the Zinoviev letter, and a Red revolt in England, before going out of office.

Urge Lady Astor for Cabinet.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—[By Daily Express.]

Lady Nancy Astor, former Virginia beauty, may be included in the cabinet list, which Stanley Baldwin prepared today in anticipation of an invitation to form a government.

France Feels Curzon's Return.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 3.—French political chieftains on the eve of the reopening of parliament tomorrow find their attention diverted chiefly to events in England and America, which are sure to produce an effect on the policies and future of the Herriot government. As far as England is concerned, France is praying that Lord Curzon will not receive the post of foreign minister.

It is felt that Lord Curzon will wreck the work of the past summer for the reestablishment of the Franco-British entente.

Lord Curzon is intimately associated in the French mind with the critical days of August, 1922, when the Franco-British friendship apparently went on the rocks forever as a result of Lord Curzon's famous "bulldog" speech before the French Parliament. The Herriot government has been officially informed from French sources in London that Stanley Baldwin will attempt to keep Lord Curzon out of the foreign office.

END OF FASCISTI ABUSES AVERTS ITALIAN CRISIS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

ROME, Nov. 3.—Following a three days' celebration of the second anniversary of the Fascisti march on Rome, when the Black Shirts took the regular arms out of the government to king and country, this government is now convinced that the crisis which threatened the country will be averted.

At an intimate reception at the Excelsior hotel, in the nature of a farewell to Gen. Debono, former chief of police and general chief of the Fascisti, who resigned following the murder of the socialist deputy Matteotti, to head the new government of the Italian Socialists, Premier Mussolini told THE TRIBUNE:

"There will be no crisis. This possibility has now been averted and we are stronger than ever."

The minister of the interior, Sig. Pecorino, who is regarded as one of the biggest members of the cabinet and who has won the confidence of the country for his impartiality, informed THE TRIBUNE that the Fascisti are cleaning their own houses and are taking energetic means to stop the excesses which were complained of by the Fascisti.

Favored Fascisti Dictatorship.

THE TRIBUNE learns that Eugenio Gossolchi, Gabriele d'Annunzio's former secretary, had intended, if the parliamentary situation had warranted, to present an order of the day requesting

Sig. Mussolini to dissolve parliament and proclaim a dictatorship. It is the Fascisti contention that the enthusiasm with which the Fascisti demonstrations were received throughout the country will force the Liberals, whose support is necessary to give Sig. Mussolini a parliamentary majority, to continue their collaboration.

Until now objections have been raised against Fascisti members, not only for terrorizing the socialists, but for going into cafes and restaurants, eating meals, and refusing to pay, saying, "I am a Fascisti." They also used to travel free on trains, occupying the best seats while regular passengers were not accommodated. Since the murder of Sig. Matteotti, the Fascisti have been energetically getting rid of the undesirable elements.

Every Girl Is the Gainer by Having Business Experience
BY DORIS BLAKE.

A prominent business man in a small community came out quite definitely in a local paper recently to the effect that he did not intend to have his daughter go to work after they finished school. They were to stay at home until they were married.

In the first place, he said, business life hardened a girl, taking away much of her feminine charm. And, in the second place, he did not think it was right for a girl who did not actually have to work to take the position from some girl who was impelled by grim necessity to earn her living.

Now, sweeping assertions are easy to make, as in the case of the above. And frequently they do not square with the facts in the case, as is also true of what he said.

First, according to present trade and business reports, the employment market is still a long way from the saturation point in the matter of first rate girl workers. Secondly, any one today, with eyes open to unprejudiced observation, can see in any line of business a host of girls who have neither grown hard nor lost their femininity through contact with the world of work.

To be sure, business life may harden the brain to the extent that a girl can use her brain more clearly and see herself and the world around her in a true perspective. Which, by the way, is excellent training for the domestic life she expects to take up later on.

Furthermore, she will become disciplined in routine labor, long hours, in assuming real responsibility. Which is just as fine discipline for married life.

And to her feminine virtues she will add some masculine ones, a loyalty to the employer for whom she works, a habit of playing the game squarely, with all her strength, for the sake of the game as well as the rewards—excellent experience to be used adjusting herself to her husband and home.

Besides this, by learning to earn money in a specialized line she is preparing herself against the changing fortunes which may possibly be her responsibility to meet later on. There is no sensible person who will not admit that there is no better insurance against poverty due to money reverses or through the death of relatives than an ability to earn money in some particular line of work.

As long as wealthy fathers will play the stock market, and wealthy widows will allow themselves to be victimized by unscrupulous money sharks, as long as husbands die before they have made "their little pile," or follow in too brightly lit paths to their own destruction, every girl, even if her family is prosperous, is entitled to this kind of insurance.

Moreover, every girl who has become a competent business worker has the makings of an equally competent housewife. If one has learned the principles of system and of efficiency in one line, it is not such a long step to apply them in another. And if there is any line in which business system counts and shows to advantage, it is in the management and the running of a home.

Further, she is actually forced to work or not every girl today who works behind her of business experience in a specialized line, which she can use if needed later on, is the gainer by that experience, from any angle you may view it.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Patience, My Dear.

"Dear Miss Blake, Please give me your advice. I met a man I think a great deal of, and because I am just going on my sixteenth birthday, mother won't even let him write to me. After I'm 40 or 50 years old before I have a beau?"

"BARBARA."

I am surprised, Barbara. I don't mind in the least your going to parties with boys and going to movies, for you are all right, because mothers are around to chaperon these young friendships. But why should you wish to choose one youth alone and correspond with him—against mother's wishes? You won't have to wait until you're 40 or 50. There is a great deal of time in between. Wait two years, at least, before coaxing mother to let you correspond with the boy.

What to Do.

"Dear Miss Blake: There are two great girls, A and B. They were great pals for five years, but have not been on speaking terms for four months. A is two years older than B, and insists that B comes to her house and speak to her first, to which B objects."

What a childish way for two grown persons to act! Just as a bit of penance for both of them, I suggest that each starts at the middle of the block and then try to realize what perfect youngsters grownups can be at times.

Clubs to Mix Dances, Mah Jongg, and Vote Returns This Evening

BY PANDORA.

To go to one's favorite club to hear the election returns this evening, or to stay at home and enjoy the fruits of one's own pet radio—that has been society's problem for the last few days.

Most of the clubs hereabouts are putting out their party awnings, etc., for dancing and dancing, bridges and mah jongg, with a running accompaniment of returns, which is, of course, the most engrossing subject of conversation today.

The Arts club decided yesterday afternoon to keep open house this evening from half past 9 o'clock on, in their new quarters in the new Maybury building (second floor). Mrs. Jacob Easton will be the hostess, and she's promised that the latest news of doings political will be relayed by the messenger boys from the Republican headquarters next door, hot from the skilet, as it were.

There will be Dutch treat dinner at the Club with small tables of enthusiasts gathered to hear the returns.

I understand the Howard Elms have invited some eighteen or twenty of their friends to join them there on this auspicious and important occasion. The Saddle and Cycle club is also having a dinner dance, and among the many who have chosen this sheltered little spot on the lake shore for their rendezvous of the evening are the Prince and Princess Michel Cantacuzene, Mrs. Leeds Mitchell, the Aldis J. Brownes, and the Livingston Fairbanks.

The regular Wednesday night dance at the Opera club has been pushed ahead one night, that members may miss none of the day's excitement. In addition to radio and telephone, there will be entertainment by two skilled exponents of the true South American tango and the Apache dances. Moving pictures and a dinner dance are on the books for the South Shore Country club, and at the Chicago Yacht club there will be a buffet supper party from 11 to 1.

Day's News in Society

Mrs. Alister H. McCormick is to give a luncheon for Miss Mary Gardner at the Saddle and Cycle club today. Miss Gardner is one of the debutantes of the season, and will be presented at a tea to be given by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Gardner, on Nov. 15.

Although members of the Friends of Opera have met this season for executive committee meetings, the second, the first general meeting of the entire membership (about 750), will take place next Monday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock at the Arts club. There will be a short business meeting followed by musical numbers by Edith Mason, and tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Marian Smith, whose wedding was an event of Saturday, are spending their wedding trip at Virginia Hot Springs, after which they will reside at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Miss Frances Nash will arrive in Chicago on Nov. 12 to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Black of Lake Forest, and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy of 22 Main street. She will give a piano recital at the Elmhurst Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16.

The Frederick H. Scotts and the John W. Scotts of Hubbard Woods have come into town for the winter and are at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham of 942 Lake Shore drive have returned from a two weeks stay at Atlantic City, where they were accompanied by Mrs. Frank H. Smith of South Orange, N. J.

LANDIS PASSES BUCK TO OWNERS IN SCANDAL SUIT

PAV 'EM, SAYS BAN

PRESIDENT RAY JOHNSON of the American League, referring to the Milwaukee proceedings today involving Commissioner Landis in the suit of "Happy" Felsch and Joe Jackson for recovery of second place money for the players from the world's series of 1920, said that more than two years ago, with the desire to keep baseball out of the courts, he had requested Commissioner Landis to distribute the money to the spectators.

If this had been done, Commissioner Landis could not be confronted with this court action, President Johnson said.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Milwaukee, Wisc., Nov. 3.—(Special.)

M. Landis is in a court of last resort in baseball matters, sixteen in big league club owners and two league presidents notwithstanding.

The great hair-dog admitted himself to be the supreme boss of the works this morning, in the course of a two and one-half hour examination which Raymond Cannon, attorney for "Happy" Felsch and Joe Jackson, suspended. While box players conducted preliminaries to suit to force payment to each player of $335.75 and interest as their share of the 1920 second place money.

While admitting, however, that what he says goes in the baseball world, Landis raised a claim that it was the magnates who were responsible for withholding the money now in dispute. He stated, and read minutes of the meeting as proof, that the owners, while assembled in a session in December, 1922, voted unanimously to refuse payment and even voted to support the commissioner in the event of suit being filed against him.

Can't Ruffle Landis.

The examination, conducted before Commissioner Max Nohl, under the state discovery statute, was totally devoid of fire, and as Landis was concerned. To make his own impression, he kept his shirt on and Cannon couldn't even ruffle him with questions aimed to show that he was particularly friendly toward C. A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, and that the latter was one of the leaders in the movement that broke up the old national commission and put Landis in his $50,000 per annum job.

Landis came into Commissioner Nohl's room accompanied by George Hindman, who was attorney for Comiskey in the Joe Jackson suit here last winter. Under questioning Landis said that Mr. Hindman was representing him, whereas Cannon asked the commissioner who it was that had first negotiated with him for his present position, back in 1920.

Landis Has $300,000.

The commissioner heraldized about an hour and said that as he recited, he had been visited by Col. Jacob Ruppert of the Yankees, William Baker of the Phillies, and Alfred Austrian.

"And Mr. Austrian is attorney for Comiskey, he is not" said Cannon, "and Mr. Hindman is attorney for Comiskey."

After getting warmed up to his task Cannon got on the subject of money now in possession of the owners. Landis said he has on deposit $200,000 and $300,000, and that the $4,000 which was never paid the suspended White Sox players is included in that total.

In regard to the money withheld from the Black Sox, Landis said that with other cases on hand, it had been withheld by the national commission in January, 1920. A check for $4,000 was given a check for $4,000 in April of the following year he admitted writing both Presidents Johnson and Heyder of the American and National leagues, respectively, asking them for opinions as to whether each of the suspended Sox should receive $85,75 of their shares of the 1920 second place money.

Made No Investigation.

Johnson replied to the letter that it was his thought that the money should be paid at once. Heyder was of the opposite opinion. Seven months later, Landis, anticipating a suit, put the matter before the club owners and they decided that the players weren't entitled to the cash.

Comiskey, who knew what Landis intended that the Black Sox had committed an offense that justified deeming them ineligible, Landis replied that he had numerous papers covering the case and that he had been supplied with information by the prosecuting attorneys in Cook county, where indelicates were returned against the players by a grand jury in the fall of 1920.

Landis admitted that he had made no investigation of the scandal. He gave as a reason for his way of thinking that the case had been cleaned up by other institutions throughout the country, he took office in November of 1920. He practically acknowledged under questioning that it was through the untiring efforts of Ban Johnson that the true story of the crooked 1919 series was brought to light.

Want Early Trial.

Landis touched a tender spot when he asked whether Landis had ever made any investigation of Comiskey's playing of the Black Sox for almost a full season after the 1919 series. The commissioner said that he hadn't because he was satisfied that the club had done all in its power to run down the rumors that persisted throughout the winter following the framed up series.

After the hearing had concluded Mr. Hindman expressed the belief that Cannon did not have a case against the commissioner and insisted that suit would have to be directed against the magnates.

Compton, however, expects to get Landis before a jury here. He contends that Landis, in his testimony today, admitted that he is all powerful and not responsible to the club owners;

KNOLLWOOD CLUB GIVES A BANQUET FOR ITS DESIGNER

Capt. A. C. Allison, who designed the new Knollwood course, west of Lake Forest, was guest at a luncheon given by the officers and members of the club at the Chicago Athletic association yesterday. Among the speakers were Lucius Teeter, Robert H. Hunter, and C. E. McDowell.

Capt. Allison reported that the construction work was practically finished and that, provided there were no adverse weather conditions, the course would be ready for play by July 4 next year. This promise was strengthened by the fact that the water system will provide for irrigating both greens and fairways.

To Have Eighteen Holes.

He said the club had receded from its original idea of having twenty-seven holes, as he believed eighteen good holes were better than twenty-seven of mediocre quality. With 225 acres of land at his disposal and being under no restrictions, the captain told the members he had been able to plan for a course free from monotony. No two successive holes run directly in the same direction and the player never has to return in the direction he came from.

Comparing the greed and honesty in athletics, Maj. Griffith, a noted champion, ducted far more honestly than most racers. In fact, he speaks of pugnacity as political.

NOTE ON PASS SHOOTING.

OC McCULLOUGH of Lake Forest is still returning from a highly successful duck hunt in South Dakota, not only one hen of teal, mallard, both kinds, and canvas backs but a good bunch of stories about the wonderful pass shooting out there. A fellow used to decoy shooting and knowing only that type of gunning is bound to get a kick out of pass shooting with the birds tearing as they fly back from one lake or feeding ground to another.

Dock was telling us that he was located in a patch of timber lying between two lakes. The hunters had cut a swath through this patch of woods so that it provided an open "flying path" for the waterfowl. And they are using it, too, so that gunners can take up positions in this open stretch and all kinds of shooting as the birds whiz along on their way to the next feeding ground.

In Gambier Bay, Alaska, we enjoyed some of this pass shooting although we didn't have to cut down any timber for our blind position. Nature had provided a peach of set up for us. Parked on a little rocky peninsula which was covered with kelp, we crouched behind some rocks and banged the old gun through the green winged teal and mallards.

Audiences get action and, some laughs out of the main boxing number, in which Cutler wears a baseball catcher's windpad, pillow fifteen ounce gloves extending almost up to his elbows, and double barrelled headgear. With this protection Cutler enables Dempsey to show the punches the old Willard, Carpenter, and Spratka powers have parts in the champion's support.

The champion looks to be in great shape, but says after four weeks of the stage stuff he'll repair to his California ranch and get hardened up again.

May Revive Central League of Ball Clubs

Lou Barbour, traveling secretary of the White Sox, who is "holding the fort" at the south side ball park in the absence of other officials of the club in Europe on the tour with the Sox and Giants, yesterday received a telegram from Owner Charles A. Comiskey of the Sox that baseball was still the world's heavyweight champion pugilist, not actor.

Jack Kearns, his manager; Marty Cutler, veteran heavyweight; Jack Sharkey, featherweight, and Marty Powers have parts in the champion's support.

Reversing the form which he displayed this morning when, with his brother Robert, he lost the doubles final, Kinsey got off to a brilliant start in the first set and won the first, second, fourth, sixth, eighth, and ninth games.

Against Kinsey's steady and strong service, his superb back court game and a deceptive top spin ball, Richards was slow in getting started. However, the champion took the second set handily.

The third set went twelve hotly contested games, with the odds apparently against Richards several times, although his spurs of brilliant strokes carried him through the pinches.

Kinsey Concedes Defeat.

Kinsey weakened perceptibly after the strenuous third set, and despite several brilliant rallies he was forced to concede defeat, which apparently was hastened through a slight sprain to his racquet hand.

On the conclusion of this tournament cups, emblematic of the Mexican championships, were presented to the victors by Eduardo Mestre, an attorney, acting as special representative of President Obregon.

Dignitaries of the navy, marine corps and others in official life will be present when the game starts. Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps; Maj. Gen. Ell K. Cole, commanding officer at Quantico and Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, director of public safety in this city and a number of others, are expected to witness the battle.

GRID EYES TURN TO STAGG-GRANGE BOUT ON MIDWAY

GRIFFITH SPEAKS

MAN'S gregarious and combative instincts supplement his by hard roads, automobiles and leisure time were given as the principal reasons for football's popularity with American people by Maj. L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the Western Intercollegiate conference, in a talk given before the City club here today.

Comparing the relative honor and honesty in athletics and politics, Maj. Griffith said: "Our athletic and commercial races are conducted for more honorably and honestly than are our political races. In fact, it is a slur on athletes to speak of the political campaigns as political races."

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The struggle between Illinois and Chicago on Stage field, the game between Notre Dame and Wisconsin at Madison, Princeton and Harvard at Cambridge, and a Southern California at Los Angeles are the principal football games scheduled for the week-end in various parts of the country.

Illinois and Chicago have not been defeated by Ohio State, while the downstaters have decisively defeated their Big Ten opponents.

All indications point to an improvement of the known ability of Grange and the blocking and interference of Britton, Hall, McIlwain and Capt. Rukuske.

Can Stagg Stop Grange?

In fact, the Maroons seem to be the only team in the country of Grange's quest for undisputed conference honors. Whether Stagg can develop a defense to stop Grange and the remainder of the Orange and Blue backfield only the game on the week end will determine. It will be quite an accomplishment for Stagg if the Illinois attack can be stopped.

Notre Dame, which should go through the season undefeated, will clash with Wisconsin at Madison in a game of note as far as Notre Dame alumni are concerned. Followers of Coach Zuppola's eleven will make the trip in witness of a struggle which is considered one of the most important on the Notre Dame schedule.

Ohio Meets Wolverines.

In another important clash Ohio State and Indiana will mingle at Columbus. The Buckeyes have not been defeated by a Big Ten eleven this year but have held to tie scores by Iowa and Chicago. The Hoosiers have been defeated by Chicago and Northwestern but are expected to make a strong showing against a team which will be much better than it was last Saturday when Wooster held it to a 7 to 0.

Northwestern and Michigan will clash at Ann Arbor in another game of interest. Victory of the Purple over Indiana last Saturday, together with the defeat of Michigan by Michigan has revived interest in Saturday's game.

Tigers Tackle Harvard.

Minnesota will play the strong Ames eleven, Minneapolis and Iowa will take on Butler at Iowa City in other struggles to be waged by western conference teams.

In the east Princeton and Harvard have both been defeated, but the old time rivalry makes the game one of importance. The Tigers fell before Notre Dame and the Crimson bowed to Dartmouth. However, anything is liable to happen when these teams meet and the week-end struggle may be no exception.

Pennsylvania, which tops the list of eastern universities and colleges for honors, will play Georgetown at Philadelphia. The Quakers should be returned victors by a comfortable margin and then only will have to defeat Penn State and Cornell to have an undisputed claim to the eastern intercollegiate championship.

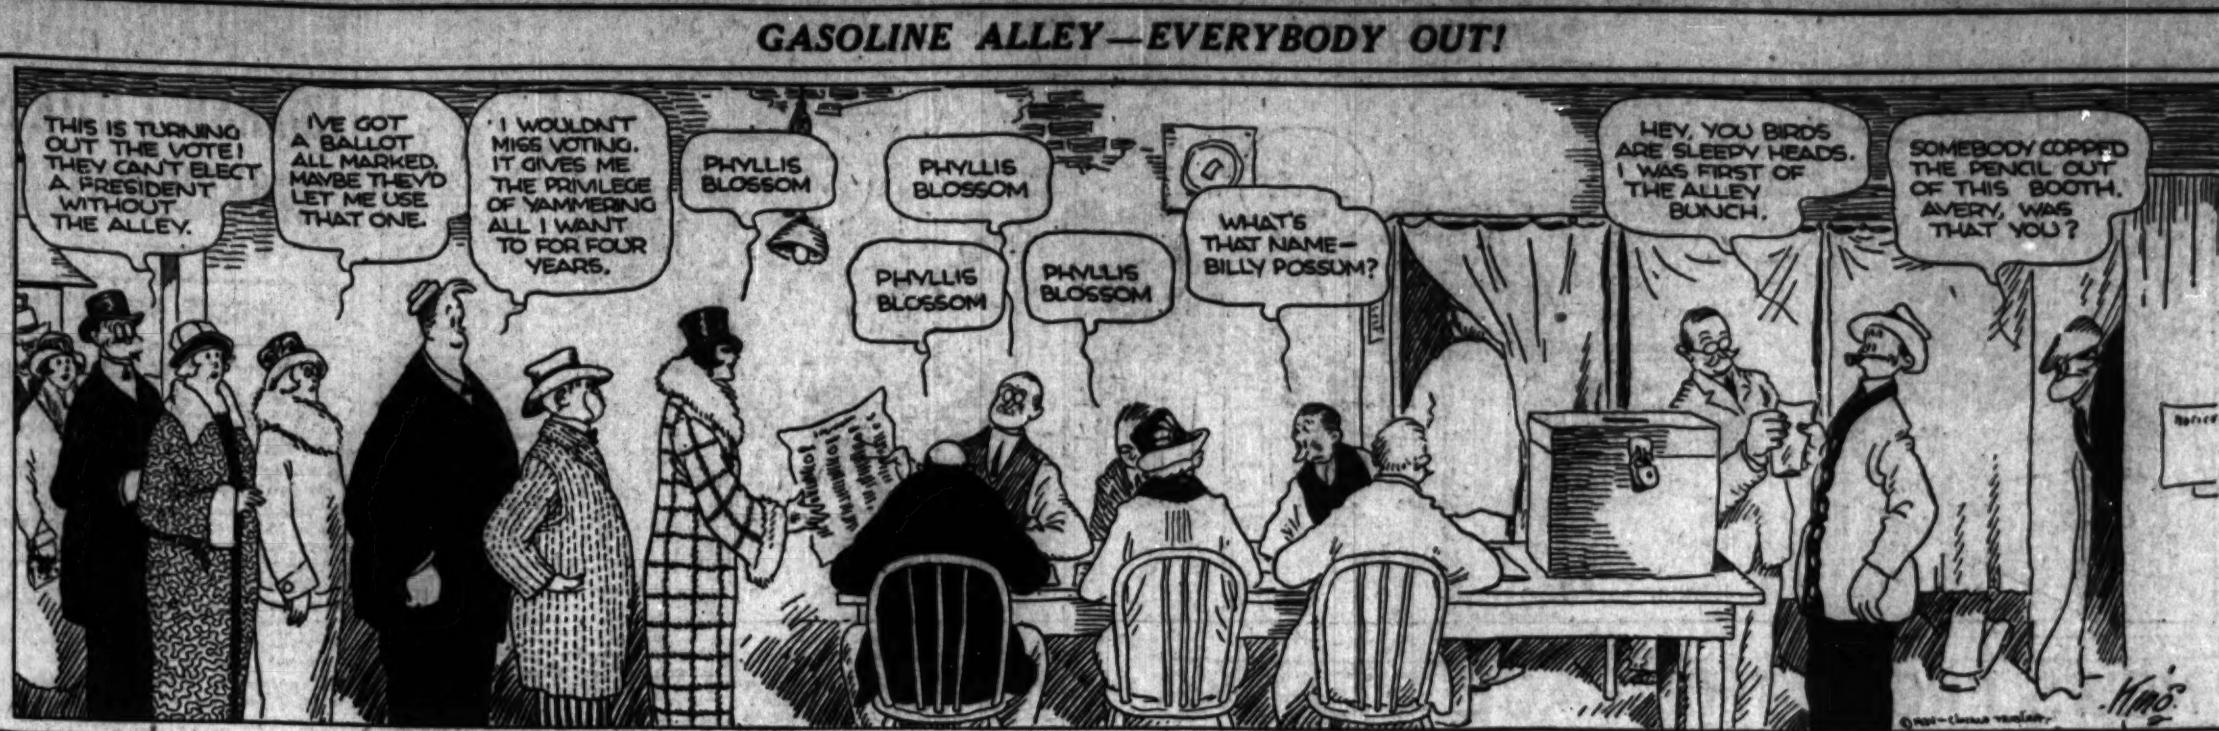

Dartmouth vs. Boston U.

Dartmouth, another undefeated eleven, but held to a tie score by Yale will meet Boston University at Hanover. Yale will meet Maryland at New Haven and Carnegie Tech and Penn State will meet in other games of the week-end.

In the Missouri Valley conference, Drake the only undefeated eleven in the association, will meet Kansas at Des Moines. The Jayhawkers have been beaten by Kansas Aggies and Nebraska, but are a good team and may surprise the doughty eleven of Des Moines.

Southern California Severs Grid Relations with Stanford

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—[Special.]

Southern California trained its sixteen-inch gun on Stanford university this afternoon in the last chapter of the athletic relations of the three bigest undergraduate institutions in California.

The executive committee of the local school unanimously voted to cancel the scheduled varsity football game between the U. S. C. and Stanford at Los Angeles tomorrow. The decision was immediately wired to Palo Alto.

By cancellation of the game Southern California figures to lose a $100,000 gate, but alumni students and officials were unanimous that no other action could be taken.

Coast Stunned at News.

Southern California was stunned Saturday when notice that Stanford and University of California had decided to sever all future athletic relations was made in the form of handbills distributed in the stands just prior to the kickoff in the annual California-U. S. C. game at Berkeley, which California won, 7 to 0.

Can Stagg Stop Grange?

In fact, the Maroons seem to be the only team in the country of Grange's quest for undisputed conference honors. Whether Stagg can develop a defense to stop Grange and the remainder of the Orange and Blue backfield only the game on the week end will determine. It will be quite an accomplishment for Stagg if the Illinois attack can be stopped.

Notre Dame, which should go through the season undefeated, will clash with Wisconsin at Madison in a game of note as far as Notre Dame alumni are concerned. Followers of Coach Zuppola's eleven will make the trip in witness of a struggle which is considered one of the most important on the Notre Dame schedule.

Ohio Meets Wolverines.

In another important clash Ohio State and Indiana will mingle at Columbus. The Buckeyes have not been defeated by a Big Ten eleven this year but have held to tie scores by Iowa and Chicago. The Hoosiers have been defeated by Chicago and Northwestern but are expected to make a strong showing against a team which will be much better than it was last Saturday when Wooster held it to a 7 to 0.

Northwestern and Michigan will clash at Ann Arbor in another game of interest. Victory of the Purple over Indiana last Saturday, together with the defeat of Michigan by Michigan has revived interest in Saturday's game.

Tigers Tackle Harvard.

Minnesota will play the strong Ames eleven, Minneapolis and Iowa will take on Butler at Iowa City in other struggles to be waged by western conference teams.

In the east Princeton and Harvard have both been defeated, but the old time rivalry makes the game one of importance. The Tigers fell before Notre Dame and the Crimson bowed to Dartmouth. However, anything is liable to happen when these teams meet and the week-end struggle may be no exception.

Pennsylvania, which tops the list of eastern universities and colleges for honors, will play Georgetown at Philadelphia. The Quakers should be returned victors by a comfortable margin and then only will have to defeat Penn State and Cornell to have an undisputed claim to the eastern intercollegiate championship.

Dartmouth vs. Boston U.

Dartmouth, another undefeated eleven, but held to a tie score by Yale will meet Boston University at Hanover. Yale will meet Maryland at New Haven and Carnegie Tech and Penn State will meet in other games of the week-end.

In the Missouri Valley conference, Drake the only undefeated eleven in the association, will meet Kansas at Des Moines. The Jayhawkers have been beaten by Kansas Aggies and Nebraska, but are a good team and may surprise the doughty eleven of Des Moines.

Good Judgment Applied to Smart Attire—That is the Van Heusen Idea.

The New York Times.

New York, Nov. 2.—[Special.]—The action of today's stock market—perhaps it would be more correct to say its inaction—was precisely in line with what had usually happened on the day before a presidential election.

The market was such as might have occurred on the eve of Thanksgiving day or Christmas. It was apparently made up altogether of pre-election selling by professional operators who had bought last week and pre-empted any buying by those who had sold. In the end, the average of prices was scarcely changed, notwithstanding a dozen or so individual advances of a point or more and as many individual declines.

Call Money at 5 Per Cent.

Call money went to 2 per cent again, for no obvious reason; and may conceivably have helped toward hesitancy. But, taking everything together, the market, the bank position, the business situation, and the election odds—the day can only be described as a period in which Wall street made no effort at "reflecting" anything.

There did not seem to be any great apprehension or nervousness about the liquidation which followed. There were some gains in the biscuit stocks in International Harvester, American Radiator, and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe. These were offset by continued weakness in the sugar stocks and irregularity in the steel stocks. Sales were just below the million mark.

Sterling Exchange off 5c.

Sterling exchange fell back 1 cent—not a surprising action, in view of last week's 5c cent advance. Some of the London cables suggested that sterling will resume its rise if the election turns out reassuring to finance.

Conceivably, sterling might rise on pleasing election news, because of the inference that confidence would be restored to American investors in foreign as well as home securities.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

All grain and stock exchanges and banks in the United States will be closed today for the general election. Winnipeg and Liverpool will be open as usual. Several commission houses will have their wires open to carry all the news ad libitum.

Grain traders were well assured by the election that no important change that might come in the election, it was said, that should coolidge be elected prices might go higher.

Grain traders are paying more attention to the large supplies at primary markets and in the visible supply generally. With 90,000,000 bu. wheat in the winter stocks, it is known to normal experts of 10,000,000 bu. to 12,000,000 bu. per month are being held up, after the election. It is possible farmers' sales may be up as they have rushed their grain forward, fearing a sharp drop in price. No doubt, this has caused a break of 3c in wheat from the top of the season.

A considerable part of the trading in wheat is in short contracts from Dec. 1 to Dec. 31. At 50c/bu. the widest spread so far.

James Stewart, the largest trader in Waukesha, was a free seller of wheat in that market yesterday. The close on November wheat was $1.45/cn., a cent of 1c. while other futures were 16c higher. Traders said the feeling was bearish.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE

Money in Chicago firm at 4145c per cent on Nov. 1, 1924, was 4145c per cent on Nov. 2, 1925, or over the counter. Bankers' acceptances, 265c per cent. New York money market, 265c per cent. Chicago money market, 265c per cent. Chicago bank clearings yesterday were $108,300,000, compared with $83,600,000 a week ago, and $61,000,000 a year ago.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—British commercial paper was 265c per cent, 265c per cent; Mexican dollars, 50c per cent; money market, high 3; low 265c; railroad stocks, 265c per cent; 265c per cent; call money against acceptances, 265c. Time loans from member companies, 60-90 days, 265c. 4-6 months, 265c.
